Chautauqua Week—Marion
JUNE 18th to 25th

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Last Sunday Commencement week began with Class Session at the Main Street Presbyterian Church by Dr. F. M. Marney, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The sermon was preached by all to be one of the greatest heard here. His subject concerned the theme of "Life or Death."

There were 19 members in the graduating class, topped and gown of twelve girls and seven boys.

On Monday evening the seniors gave their class exercises to a large audience. Every minute of the time was full of wit and elegant philosophy. The reading of the minutes of the senior class meetings was given by Miss Wheeler, and her work was characteristic of her school work. The report of the treasurer was read by Miss E. E. and his ability as a speaker was demonstrated by the fact that his account balance John William Rice was the historical of the class and those who have been his class mates during the year knew and knew intimately fitted him for such work. Ernest Mower who took the part of grandfather, rendered his part well but we all know that Ernest is not an actor but a real boy.

Our champion brought sunshine to a well pointed speech. Virginia Hunt was expert in her recitation of the future. She assigned each member of the class to its particular sphere in life. Raymond Bush gave the moral law to the dearest one dear and his paper was full of genuine advice. Elizabeth Dellar gave to each member of the class a gift which was a symbol of future attainment. Every gift was accompanied by a beautiful bit of wisdom.

The last word and testament was read by various readers. Mr. Griffith forgot to give who had been mentioned in the sermon and when he finished his reading there was nothing more to be said.

Walter Franklin, who is president of the senior class gave the opening address. His speech was masterly and gripped the audience. Walter has been a strong president and a leader in school activities.

Tuberculosis Eradication

An was stated last week in the Press, the County Agent in cooperation with the Extension Department University of Kentucky and the State Veterinarian Department is conducting a campaign for tuberculosis eradication in dairy cattle. The number of cows in Crittenden county now awaiting test is approximately 285 to be exact. You cannot tell a tubercular cow by appearance the surest way is the tuberculin test. All dairymen are urged to have their cows tested. Get in touch with the County Agent for further details.

Profitability of Dairying

Much has been written regarding the profit from dairying and fertility for the land.

Here is something that is right come to home on dairying.

Mr. W. I. Myers of Ford's Ferry, Ky. during the year from 1918 to August 1919 kept a record of receipts from his herd of five cows. During the cream checks, milk used for calves, milk and cream used by his family Mr. Myers derived an income of $666.08 for his year's labor. That is well over $100 per cow and does not include the fertility returned to the land which in itself is an important factor. Mr. Myers states also that four of his cows were two years old at that time. His income from his five cows would be gladly received by many Crittenden county farmers. Just figure for yourself using these figures what 10 cows would do for a family.

TOLU BANK BIG CLUB

Last Saturday afternoon the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Tolu contributed 17 pure bred Duroc Jersey hogs to Junior Agricultural club members. The bank is doing this to increase the number and quality of pure bred stock in the county. The pure will be cared for so as to develop breeding stock under the direction of the County Agent. The club members formed themselves into a Junior Club there also with Hazel Hunt as president, Ohio Lucas, V. president and Walter Neemaker as secretary. Wait till fall and the boys will show you at the Tolu Junior Fair some "sure nuff" good hogs.

MARION GIRL GRADUATES

Miss Virginia Guess of Marion, Ky., a pupil of Archibald Olmstead, was presented in a delightful senior piano recital Friday evening at the Winfield College of Music.

Miss Guess is a very talented pianist of exceptional ability. She is an interpreter of rare intelligence and unbounded charm of a distinctive type and holds her audience spell-bound by her art. To her fine musical gifts, she adds extreme attractiveness of person, a very gracious stage presence and a charming personality in which womanly sweetness and poise are never obscured by affectation. Miss Guess is a southern woman from Marion, Ky., and speaks with a delightful accent. For several years she has made her home with an aunt, Mrs. Rose, in Blackwell but expects to return to her home this summer.

Miss Guess interpreted several selections composed by the world's greatest artists and they were all played exquisitely—Winfield (Kansas) Daily Courier.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

At any rate, when he becomes a jailbird the burglar is no longer a robber.

Many a fellow lives by his wit who has never developed a keen sense of humor.

Even in these abbreviated days we have yet to hear of the clocks striking for shorter hours.

The average man is quite willing to bear another fellow's burden if he can carry it on the hip.

Give a man a free foot and he can do almost as much kicking as a woman who is tongue-tied.

Life is kaleidoscopic; a crazy quilt. Still, when we patch up a quarrel we begin to mend our ways.

Don't be known as an easy mark. It is better to take advantage of an opportunity than to be one.

Hoax—"I hate to play poker with Jones. He's a quack." "Jones—" "Apt to raise the deuce, eh?" "Hoax—" "He'll raise a pair of deuces."

"What is worth doing at all is worth doing well," remarked the Wise Guy. "That's right," agreed the Simple Mug. "Many a nut is half cracked."

"Man is made of dust," quoted the good deacon. "Not satisfied with that the prohibitionists are trying to make him drier than ever," added the unregenerate backslider.—Philadelphia Record.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The highest thoughts that come to us are the first fruits of loving moods, which bear the stamp of holiness.—Marian Dudley Richards.

A hypocrite despises those whom he deceives, but has no respect for himself. He would make a dupe of himself, too, if he could.—Harrill.

There is a better thing than the great man who is always speaking, and that is the man who only speaks when he has a great word to say.—William Winter.

The dull world has got the wrong phrase; it is he who resents an affront who pockets it; he who takes no notice lets it lie in the dirt.—George MacDonald.

Die when I may I want it said of me by those who knew me best that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower where I thought a flower would grow.—Abraham Lincoln.

False shame is the devil's get weapon. He does more work with it even than with false pride. For with false pride he only goes evil, but with false shame paralyzes good.—Huskin.

GROWLS OF A GROUCH

I don't believe widows are dangerous if you don't take them seriously.

I dislike perfect men and always walk around the block to avoid meeting one.

I never knew a chyster lawyer who didn't want to save his country by going to congress.

I always suspect a man who puts his arm around my shoulders and calls me "old chap."

I don't believe every rich man is dishonest, and I don't believe every dishonest man is rich.

I don't believe in submitting to a major operation just to settle an argument between two doctors.

I have my own idea of a fourflusher. He is a man who adds "dictated but not read" to a letter he has typed himself.

I believe every man has a right to his own opinion when it agrees with mine, whereas I am different from nobody in particular.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

LIFE

Two words were born twice—"T" and "Am."

There are two powers that go operate—"I" and "Can."

There are two ideas that work together—"I" and "He."

There are two spirits that make harmony—"I" and "Will."

There are two infinities that coincide—"I" and "I did."

There are two thoughts that compete and bear fruit—"I" and "Know."—From Life.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT

He is an old bore. Even the grave yawns for him.

A fat man always has more troubles than sympathizers.

Jumping a centurion board till is one way of beating a retreat.

Sometimes a wise man gives up a sure thing for an uncertainty.

To this union was born four children, they are Woodford, Elizabeth, Jewel Dean and James D. She professed faith in Christ 12 years ago and joined the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Her faithful husband and good children and devoted sister and kind neighbors made a wonderful fight to keep her, but God said on May 19, it is enough come up higher, and the spirit took its flight to God who gave it. She said for Bro. Oakley to realize that when he preached her funeral she was at rest with her father and mother and loved ones. She directed her own funeral.

Her funeral was conducted at the residence in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The interment was in the new cemetery. The grave was covered with pretty flowers.

Where Luxury is Economy

It seems almost unbelievable that anything so luxuriously rich as glove silk underwear should be an economy! And yet, when it's Vanity Fair, it is decidedly economical. Not only because Vanity Fair is so closely woven and wear-resisting, but the saving in laundry alone is an item!

With no boiling, bleaching nor bleaching necessary, you can easily wash out your Vanity Fair silk underwear yourself in the bathroom bowl. It dries quickly, and a light pressing with an almost cool iron is all that it needs. Some women prefer not to have it ironed at all.

If you will stop in, our salesgirls will be glad to show you just how much a year's outfit of Vanity Fair will save you.

They will also point out to you the special features of the Vanity Fair underthings—the extra four inches to the vest, the double back of the knicker and other equally distinctive and practical touches.

MARION

I have known Marion all of my life. My father J. P. Hogard came here in horse back to the old horse mill when Marion was not a town, not even a village, only the old mill and one residence. The first time that I can remember coming to Marion was on an ox cart with four bags of corn across the front bolster.
Some of the men I learned to know were David Stinson, Judge Wager, Cub Higham, William Carnahan, and Mr. Douglas who kept the tavern on the corner where Douglas Carnahan now sells goods. Robert Fulton Haynes, J. W. Blue Sr., Nathan R.
Black, J. N. Woods who sold goods on the corner where the Farmers Bank is located, Charlie Higginbotham, who ran a saloon where the Marion Bank is, W. N. Rochester, Hank and R. N. Walker and others whose names I can not recall. Most all these men were highly respected.

I never did like the business of the Higginbothams and never had much admiration for Judge Wager.

For the first time that I came to church here was in the old brick out by the old grave yard, so called then.
The house was well filled and I sat by Judge Wager. While H. M. Ford was preaching Judge Wager turned and spat on me. A thing I have not forgotten to this day. Then I was sure that town people looked down on country people.

Some way country people get to believe that people in town think themselves above them. But this is a mistaken idea. There may be a few now and then who really think so but they are few only, and these few are rather to be pitied than blamed. For the salvation of this county, socially, religiously and politically depends largely on the great common people, most of whom live in the country.

Marion is the county seat of Crittenden county—the only town of any size in the county. It is here that all litigations etc., have to be settled, the great common center. The town people can not get along without the country people, nor can the country people get along so well without the town people. It must be mutual, we must live to benefit each other.

I have lived in several counties in the state and none of these counties have a better citizenship than Crittenden. Take the families like the Hunt, Paris, Wheeler, Underbowl, Rankin, Baker, Hughes, Adams, Walker, Hill, Minner, Hodges, Asher, Sullenger, Pickens, Deluse, Lamb, Wilson, Crayne, Gues, Goss, Cook, Daughtrey, Conger, Dean, Thabagen, Postlethweight, Franklin, Wilborn,
Carter, Conger, Harpending, Ordway, Pogue, and space will not allow me to call the names of families whose names stand for good citizenship.
Then we have in Marion a citizenship equal to the best. The Marion bar is made up of good citizenship, the Moores, Henderson, Bennett, Rochester, Blue, Nunn, Deboe. Marion merchants are all good citizens as well as good business men. In fact in all walks of life no town will exceed Marion for citizenship.

Marion can be made one of the most beautiful towns in Western Kentucky. Let our motto be "United we stand, divided we fall." Let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and push.

Mrs. Dr. Phillips, of New York City, who has been visiting relatives in the county returned to her home Wednesday and Miss John Collins went to make her home with Mrs.

ate from the Western State Normal ville. Miss Travis formerly taught

REPORT OF E. K. SURVEY COMMISSION

The Board of Trustees of the State University of Kentucky recently appointed a commission to make a survey of other State Universities to compare and see wherein we were short. This Commission went to Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois Universities and found that Kentu-ky was far behind these states in providing educational facilities for Kentucky boys and girls.

The Commission was composed of ten prominent men, Judge Clem S.
Nunn of Marion and Mr. C. H. Elliott of Sturgis were two of the member.

The following is an extract from their report given in the Louisville Courier Journal.

State appropriation of $200,000 for new buildings and equipment for the University of Kentucky is reminded in the report made public here today by the University of Kentucky Survey Commission on its return from the State Universities of Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Ill.

In addition, the report said, "the income of the University must be increased $300,000 annually in the next two years, with additional increases to meet additional needs. Not less than $500,000 should be provided annually for the next ten years for the construction of building and the purchase of additional equipment and ground."

The report says that the states to the north of the Ohio river multiply several times for their State universities the money given by Kentucky to the University of Kentucky.

It shows further that the greatness of the several states visited resulted in large measure from the growth and development of their State universities.

FLASHLIGHTS

But what a nervous place the world would be if everybody were a success.

It doesn't have to be a very slippery job for some men to fall down on it.

Places where a man may "drop in"
for 10 or 15 cents might be multiplied.

Usually the exact day you set for changing your daily program it rains and you can't.

Great men are usually kind; anybody can be as great as the greatest in that respect.

Handits seldom kidnapping anyone for ransom, because their storage facilities are so poor.

People are so eager for somebody else to take "just any kind of a job" if it is offered him.

Vanity is not so widespread. Thousands of those who win are in a state of life-long astonishment over it.

Almost anyone can make a fair stag-ger at singing a sentimental song, but only an artist can put over ragtime.

At breakfast father wants to talk about what he reads in the paper and mother wants to talk about the things that ought to be sent up from the store.

It doesn't follow that a rich man gets any more fun out of life than a poor man. The chances are that when he has to attend the meetings of boards of directors he'd much rather go fishing.

Some men who are so thrifty that they smoke a cigar to the point where they have to hold the stub of it at the end of a match will sit around and waste three hours of another man's time and think nothing of it.
Detroit Free Press.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAY

It doesn't take much dough to buy a paste diamond.

A woman's tears are usually more effective than her words.

Your idea of a good horse is one who can boss without bossing.

Don't tell a man that you are as good as he is, show him that you are better.

The man who is looking for a fat office should visit the counting room of a lard factory.

Offer a woman an apology and the chances are she will find an excuse for not accepting it.

When a man loves a woman more than tongue can tell it's up to him to let money do the talking.

As a matter of fact it isn't so much what your neighbor thinks of himself as what he thinks of you that counts.

ANOTHER CONTINUED

Watts Franklin is a shining example of the product of Crutenden county schools. He has developed great qualities of leadership in a forceful, popular, talented, industrious, above-research and an athlete of ability a future leader for Crutenden county. Watts graduated this year and has majored in the agricultural course. He wrote the following thesis which should interest every farmer and citizen in the county.

G. M. G. MUELLER

The future of attending tonight

[illegible]

spoke a word for your friends here it, for good reason. Better schools for the Farm Bureau, County Agents and something that tends to promote our prosperity. That is the long-sought of us men that will take years to reach. There was not least of a day" neither was anything else given but to time and labor. So to the older citizens fall the lot of preparing their sons to step in their places, and so it goes. Later than they have done. There are many of them who do not know that we have a first class Agricultural course in our High School under the direction of a South Hughes man that knows the fundamentals of agriculture. Is it your job will be to impart the principles of farming that are practical on any soil from the Ohio river to the edge of tobacco country, from Tradewater to Bee Creek. If he is going to know what he should be, he must return to his farm and after a few years produce sixty bushels where you formerly gave thirty. He will raise a grade of stock that will net you in any market in America, and do this not by living an idle life of idleness, but by being afraid that he may not return to the farm.
If after he has taken an agriculture course and does not feel that the agriculture has, then it is well that he should seek other professions for it means that he never would have been a successful farmer. Education does not take the boy away from the farm but rather makes him a better one. More they leave the farm because they do not know how to do it. They know they have made money, so well.

Gettysburg youths possess the knowledge of the younger population.
If it could happen that the most capable, vigorous and enterprising youths leave the country for the city then to become sterilized, thru the loss of farm and therefore any one result will be possible. And this would happen just as certainly as it would should a horse or cattle breeder follow the practice of selling his best animals and keeping his lifeline ones for breeding. Then if our prosperity depends on the youth of our rural population then it is ab-

In the country that we have something to transport over there, the people that must eventually come from the soil and over soil must be provided a great deal before it will produce what it should. The acreage and of Cambodia, mostly outside the streams, the plantation and the oil industries. A fertile soil and the streams, little production and the plantation, we have not difficult to see why we produce that is so small. And another is that to see why our soil is so poor when we have been depleting it faster than a century and more is losing it. The soil of Cambodia, mostly, have in this type of forest, forest plantation and a number of some concrete evidence about it. In these groups of plantation and it is also concerned with the burning of organic and phosphorus only and so with other soil that has been depleted for several generations with the increase of human nature and the deterioration soil. The soil must be enriched by the use of lime in order to permit the growth of good nitrogen fixer legumes which will add the necessary fertility again. That is the very great field was to add nitrogen at that is contained in commercial fertilizers is very expensive. The phosphate can be taken either in the form of rock phosphate or acid phosphate at a reasonable price. However, may be added to the process, turning under it, green manure, crops and pasture. With all these a farmer will not be able to do so because without supplementary systems of the proper management and system of farming is required.

No method of farming pays more heavily on the fertility of the soil, and the people brought a future of dairy and livestock. No other system work as well together and no other system will move Cattleman away. Dairying is the practice that will restore one soil to its original state and in wealth at once. In our dairy history there never was a time when the future was so bright with promise for the new engaged in the industry. A tremendous export demand for dairy products and a steadily increasing domestic demand

Behold The Triumph of the Prussian Schoolmaster

WHEN von Humboldt was asked how to develop a great Prussian Empire, he replied: "Whatever you would put into the life of the nation, you must first put into the schools of the nation."

This advice was followed. Militarism, the glorification of force, the idea of the German super-state, and the ethics of the jungle went into the schools. And when von Moltke led the triumphant hosts of Prussian militarism through the streets of conquered Paris, he remarked: "Behold the triumph of the Prussian schoolmaster."

Wrong Education Wrecked the World

Germany scrapped civilization by wrong education. In two generations she transformed gentle, God-fearing, peace-loving people into ruthless horde of war-mad fanatics.

This kind of education glorifies might and physical prowess, while it despises the gentle virtues of humility, truth, and honor. It exalts the ethics of the jungle and considers, as Nietzsche did, the ethics of Jesus as fit only for "women, old men, and Englishmen."

Thus it trained a generation to believe that the supreme interest is the state, that war is a legitimate activity, that might—military, industrial, physical—is the final arbiter of all things. So when at last "Der Tag"—the day—arrived, the product of the Prussian schools marched across Belgium, spurred on by their preacher's declaration: "We execute God's almighty will, and he calls us to murderous battles, even if worlds should thereby fall in ruins."

Are Americans willing for the Prussian tendency now manifest in our education to become dominant?

Christian Education Can Save the World

Over against Prussianism, Christian education accepts the principle that right makes might and implants deep in the soul the fundamental principles of religion—love for God, faith in Jesus Christ, justice, humility, love.

Christian education is necessary to the world's salvation. It alone can produce a generation of men devoted to righteous principles of personal, social, national and international action. It alone can give us Christian leaders to lead the world aright. It alone can furnish men and women to do the Christian work of the world.

Germany had no Christian colleges, and she ruined the world. The Christian Education Movement of the M. E. Church, South, proposes to give America the best system of Christian colleges in the world. Will you back this program?

A $33,000,000 Christian Education fund will be raised between

May 28th and June 5th
